

Multifunctional adhesive layer with depolluting activity and enhanced thermal and flame retardancy properties

Materia Nova technology

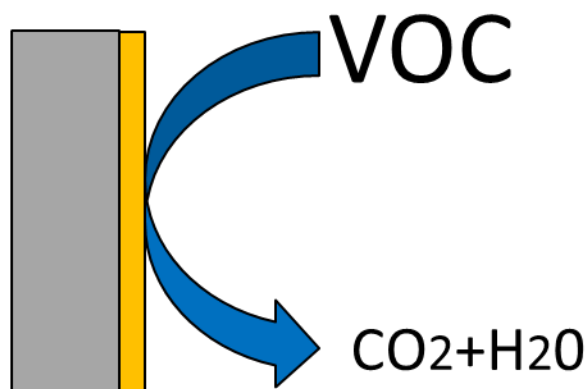

The technology has been demonstrated for a composite layer made of bio-based thermoset resin reinforced with natural fibres and depolluting materials. It can be extended to other composite compositions.

Technology Market

Building, Design, Transport and Industrial markets that require multifunctional materials exhibiting properties of air depollution, protection against corrosion, against high temperature and fire ...

Contact for the composite layer preparation:
leila.bonnaud@materianova.be

Contact for air depollution properties:
driss.lahem@materianova.be

This research received funding from the Interreg V FWVL Program and Wallonia Region in the frame of the projects